SUMMARY REPORT

ADC-2002: DENTAL VENEERS

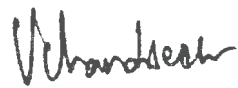

In recent years, there has been tremendous revolution in the field of aesthetic dentistry. Veneers are a conservative method of restoring unaesthetic teeth. With the newer advancements in ceramic materials and adhesive systems, the treatment outcomes are very satisfactory. Clinicians should understand the latest ceramic materials in order to be able to recommend them, their applications and techniques, to ensure the complete success of the clinical case. The student should understand the recent concepts of aesthetic dentistry. Learn to apply the principles and treatment protocols required for the aesthetic treatment.
